History 321

Late Medieval Europe

The story of the cultural, political, economic, and religious developments in Europe between 1250 and 1500 is a tale of truly epic disasters, including the Great Famine, the Great Plague, and the seemingly endless Hundred Years’ War. Yet, despite the fact that we often speak of this period as one of great calamity and decay, it was also a time of great innovation in the arts and sciences, as well as the moment when the concept of the “state” began to take root in Europe.

This course is a lecture course, but there will be many opportunities to discuss assigned readings. Students are encouraged to remain current with required readings throughout the course in order to facilitate those discussions and enrich their own understanding of the material.

Course Objectives

Students taking this course will:

• Learn about the various historical theories surrounding the interpretation of the Late Middle Ages
• Learn to read primary sources critically and secondary sources analytically
• Engage in analysis of primary sources and use them in supporting arguments concerning their interpretation
• Engage in thoughtful analysis and discussion of a variety of primary source documents and secondary historical writings

Required Reading

The following titles are available at the Duckstore; most are also widely available via other book retailers.

Judith Bennet, A Medieval Life
Michael Camille, Gothic Art: Glorious Visions

A Word about Plagiarism: Regrettably, I must make a statement regarding the offense of plagiarism. Any violation of the University of Oregon’s academic policy on plagiarism will result in my taking all necessary administrative action to report the conduct. I take the offense of plagiarism seriously, on an academic and personal level. I will fail you on the assignment at best; at worst, I will fail you for the course. Serious consequences up to and including expulsion from the University may result from the offense.

Policy Regarding Late Assignments or Make-up Examinations

All assignments are due by the end of class on the scheduled date unless I have granted an extension. Late assignments will receive penalties on the following scale:

Assignment received late on the assigned date: Two-thirds letter grade penalty.
Assignment received one day late: Full letter grade penalty.
Assignment received more than one day late: Two (2) letter grade penalty.
Assignment received more than two days late: No credit.

You must make all requests for extensions in advance. In the case of midterm or final papers, you must notify me no later than one week prior. Naturally, I will consider emergencies on a case-by-case basis, but please note that only verifiable emergencies will generally suffice.

Special Needs Note: If you are a student registered with the Accessible Ed Center as eligible for extra time on exams or for other specific needs associated with the class, please let me know immediately. Remember that it is your responsibility to make any arrangements necessary with the Accessible Education Center for exams or other accommodations.

Student Conduct:

General: Please refrain from reading materials unrelated to our course during class. Please keep your voice down in the event you need to clarify a note with a neighbor, etc., and please keep any side conversations to a minimum. Never hesitate to ask a question if you need to do so.

Electronics: Please put cell phones into silent mode before class begins; no texting or viewing messages during class. Please confine your use of laptops or other devices to note taking, as activities unrelated to the course are distracting to me as well as to others and thus unacceptable (even if you sit in the back row). I reserve the right to prohibit the use of all electronics in class at any time.
